DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the disclosure must not have references to the claims since they can be canceled or amended or renumbered.

Appropriate correction is required.

2. Claims 1-10 are objected to because of the following informalities: amended claim 1 missing article "A" in line 1, the terminology in claims is lacking antecedent basis on several occasions. Appropriate correction is required.

Drawings

3. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: 33. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-4, 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Thurston et al.

Thurston discloses a heat sink 206 accommodating at least one electronic structural element 202, 204 with a spring element 220 for pressing the structural element against a main body of the heat sink 206; the spring element 220 is held on the main body of the heat sink by a connecting means which are comprised of a push-on connection having a projection 212, a mounting opening 227, an opening edge 228 bears at least in sections, against the lateral surface of the projection 212 under preload resulting from the intrinsic elasticity of the spring element 220 that is designed as a spring leaf having a contact point 222 for the structural element; the mounting opening at at least one point is smaller or equal in size to the diameter of the projection 212; the opening 227 has indentations forming spring tabs 228; the contact zone on the projection 212 is inherently has some plasticity. With respect to claim 9, Thurston discloses the claimed invention including the main body of the heat sink and the projection which can be manufactured by different methods including extrusion, but since the final product is not structurally different from the one disclosed by Thurston the method of making is irrelevant to the device patentability

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 5 and 10 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Thurston et al. in view of Dearnaley et al.

Thurston discloses the claimed invention except the circular mounting opening.

Dearnaley discloses the spring element 15 having circular opening 14 to engage with the projection 9, 10. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to provide circular openings as disclosed by Dearnaley in the device disclosed by Thurston to simplify the manufacturing process.
